

Guide for Students Logging on to Co-writer First Time

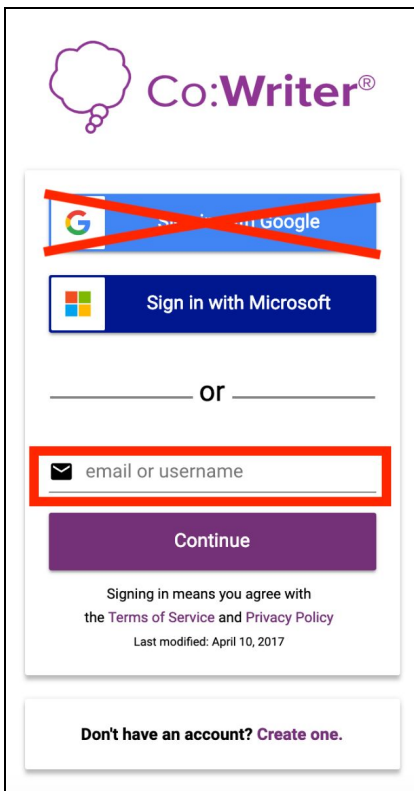

To log in to their Co-writer for the first time students will take these steps:

1. Log into their mdusd.net account using the Chrome browser.
2. In the upper right corner they will see the Co-writer extension.

NOTE: If this extension is not showing up for the student contact Ann Tirrell (tirrella@mdusd.org).

3. The Co-writer account window will pop up and they will enter the user account name we sent to you in an email in the space at the bottom that says “email or username” and click Continue.

4. On the next window the student will enter the password we included in the email we sent you. We made the password the same as their username.

If you have any question please contact AT Services using our AT/AAC request from on the MDUSD Staff Portal.
